In the main.php file, I'm trying to set the variable post(get_option('profile_url')); But the profile_url seems to be empty when I'm testing it out with this code: `echo 'Hello '. get_user_meta($user->ID, 'profile_name', true).'; echo 'Welcome To '. get_option('profile_url').'; ?>` But if I run the code through the PHP test plugin, I get this output: Hello fellow app user Hello xoxo cool Welcome to rand.io/profile So, my question is, is it possible to set this post variable in the main.php file, and if it is, how can I make sure that it contains a value when I echo it out in my main.php file? A: I think you need to set the cookie properly in your profile page: `if (!isset($_COOKIE['CNAME']) &&!isset($_GET['CNAME'])) { setcookie('CNAME', $name, time() + 86400); }` Impact of pulmonary resection on outcome in a systematic CT scan-guided prospective study of small peripheral tumors. The company focuses on developing applications for Windows platforms, including the ones used by Mac users. How I bought: I bought this app from the Windows Store. What I was able to find: At the time of writing this review, I haven't been able to find any negative reviews on the app, and all of the user ratings are very positive. What I didn't like: Not effective in some situations How I rated the application: The five-star rating is based on the overall effectiveness of the software tool, on how easy it is to use, and the number of helpful features provided. The one-star rating is based on the complexity of the software tool, and on the usability of the app. Who is Responsible for the Training of the New Hire? Who is Responsible for the Training of the New Hire? Question We are a small agency of 15 employees and some clients. Who should be responsible for the training of the new hires, and what kind of training should be done for the new hires? Answer Traditionally the Responsible Party (RP) was the Client. The experience of many agencies and Small Businesses is that once the RP feels the new hire is ready for a significant increase in responsibility they will either start expecting him to attend all training he should attend, or they will start instructing him how to attend all training. It is much more efficient to have an RP become a Teacher. If you are the RP, the three things you need to do are: Make sure you are familiar with the company's business Make sure you are familiar with the employee's job If there is a training program, make sure you have been informed that your new hire is eligible to participate in it Here is an outline of the responsibilities of each party: Teacher: The Teacher is responsible for showing the new hire the ropes. For instance, he/she may be required to show the
